 All Benning Winners Yesterday Well Supported
 by Carefully Placed Money—Better Weather
 Will Bring Out Better Horses.

The amiable pencilers at Benning were very sore yesterday when they found at the end of the day that they had been separated from a goodly portion of coin.

There was weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth, and general confusion among the near-sports.

Nobody could tell just how it came about, but in nearly every race the winner was well backed by a slick party who saw their money in so carefully that it was not apparent at first. The Hester street bookies were in bad temper at the end, and gazed at anything that looked like a plunge. One of them refused a $2 bet on Berkeley in the last race on the ground that he was loaded up.

The first race of the day gave the bookies a body blow, and there was much squinting when Yaddo, at all sorts of odds from 4 to 1 to 15 to 1, came home in front. This was one of the best things of the meeting and was kept so well under cover that not a soul outside of those in the know tumbled. When the odds were marked up, the money was sent in so carefully that the bookies were loaded up before they realized it. Yaddo looked like a hot horse when he went to the post, and he won like one, defeating such good ones as Dolly Spanker, Comedienne, and Royal Lady.

Will wonders never cease? Here comes Bill Daly again and carries off another race, and in addition to that, runs second in two others—all the same day! Perhaps, after all, "Pa" is in the business for something else besides his health. Daly scored with Winning Star in the fifth race yesterday, but the filly had to be much the best to get the coin, for little Yorkie put up a ride that would make the angels weep. In the first race, "Pa" Lattin, at 25 to 1, got the place, and again, in the last race, Daly's Killiecrankie ran second, winding up a day full of glory for the green above the red.

Sol Lichtenstein found little old New York too quiet for him, and yesterday he was back at Benning laying the odds once more. You can't keep a squirrel on the ground.

The wind and a little sunshine worked wonders with the track yesterday, and Frequent Fumbles Mark Final Secret Practice on Franklin Field.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—Pennsylvania's football team yesterday lined up for the last time this season in regular secret practice on Franklin Field. The team after supper packed up and left for Winslow Junction, N. J., where it will remain till the morning of the game on Thanksgiving Day. All the players and the entire squad of coaches and substitutes left for the bumpy Jersey air in the best of places. The men came out of the Michigan game without an injury. Whether they will fare as well at the hands of the Ithacans is doubtful.

The practice consisted in a long signal drill, in which the entire squad took part. Coaches Torrey and Williams took charge of the varsity, while Coach Kane had the substitutes. Both teams showed great improvement over the work of last week, yet the work was not all that was desired. Despite the appeal of the coaches, fumbles and little mix-ups occurred. Kenneth ran the varsity, while his rival, Bunny Reagan, drove the substitutes. The latter team exhibited far more life and spirit than did the regulars.

Smith Promoted.

One new man has been transferred to the varsity squad, and he is the scrub guard, Frank Smith, who has been a member of the scrub team for the last two years. Smith's play at the start of the season was of first class order, but his studies kept him from attending the practice regularly. Smith has been showing up well against Ziegler, whom he will replace in case of an injury. The coaches are taking every precaution, and have now a complete set of substitutes.

The Cornell team will arrive in town today, when they will take the train for West Chester, and will remain there till the morning of the game. Tickets for the game are now very scarce articles, the entire north, south, and west stands having been disposed of, leaving only east stand tickets.

COLUMBIA MAY TAKE UP FOOTBALL AGAIN

President Butler Allows Interclass Contests—Wedge to Collegiate Games.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—There is every probability that Columbia will meet other colleges in football again within a year or two.

In a letter addressed yesterday to E. Fowler, the chairman of the board of student representatives, President Butler expressed his willingness to allow the students of Columbia to play interclass football. The students regard this as the opening wedge to intercollegiate football, and they are also of the opinion that holding interclass contests for at least one year would be the best thing for the ultimate development of a strong varsity.

If Columbia is allowed to resume contests with other colleges next season it would be practically impossible for the managers and coaches to gather a first-class team. A year of interclass contests, however, would give the first varsity managers something to work on. Every student of Columbia now feels that President Butler will consent to formation of a varsity when a strong team can be made up of men in good standing in their college work.

By an odd coincidence, the publishing of this letter came at the same time that witnessed an attack on President Butler in the shape of an editorial in the Convention Bulletin, a paper which the students are having twice a week in connection with the mock Republican national convention which they are carrying on.

Another of yesterday's events that had a bearing on the football situation was the announcement of the formation of the Early Eighties Society at the Columbia University Club. Members of the classes of '80, '81, '82, '83, and '84 have formed the association for the purpose of "the organized support of Columbia University, and particularly Columbia College, as the foundation of the university and the maintenance of legitimate sport and student activities."

The membership includes some of the most influential alumni, and the present students see in it a valuable ally in obtaining the restoration of football as a legitimate sport.

GREEK NEARLY KILLED IN WORCESTER MATCH

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 26.—Charles Olsen defeated and almost killed James Prokus, the Lowell, Mass., Greek, in a wrestling match at the Missouri A. C. last evening for a wage of $450 a side. Olsen gained the first fall with a double Nelson in seven minutes, and the second fall in thirty seconds. George Pappiste acted as referee and stakeholder.

It was the fiercest wrestling contest ever witnessed in St. Louis. Prokus was rendered unconscious in the second fall and it was half an hour before he could be revived, and fully thirty minutes more before he was able to dress and leave the club. Blood gushed from his ears, nose and mouth.

The contest was the result of Demetrius refusing to wrestle Olsen Sunday night.

METZGER UMPIRE IN VARSITY GAME ON THANKSGIVING

Football Writer Selected by Georgetown and G. W. U.

Georgetown held its last scrimmage prior to the George Washington game yesterday on the Prep field.

The varsity gridiron is a sea of mud at the present time, and there are a force of men busily engaged draining the grounds, so that there will be no possible chance of a soggy field, providing the weather is any way fair.

Interest among the students over the coming struggle is at a high pitch, especially since the serious trouble experienced in arranging the match this season. Both schools are greatly worked up, and the rivalry existing is greater than in past years.

Looks Like Wise Choice.

The only official decided on so far is Sol Metzger, who will umpire. Cater had been agreed upon to referee, but will be unable to come. Woodruff is the most probable man for the position.

The eleven are not as strong this year as formerly, but from a comparative standpoint they are about on a par as far as playing quality are concerned. The Georgetown squad took a prolonged lay-off after the Virginia game, as it was thought for a time there would be no game with the Hatchettes. Coach Reilly and his assistants have been working overtime this week, however, and expect to have the Georgetown aggregation in tip-top condition by Thursday.

Kerr Helping Georgetown.

Jimmy Kerr, the player who was mainly responsible for the victory last Thanksgiving, was out in a suit yesterday, and gave McNulty and Thompson some valuable pointers as to how the oval should be advanced. Larkin and Olivas are expected out today, and this will complete the staff of coaches. Tickets were not put on sale yesterday, as expected, but will be on hand today, as they have all been printed.

TWO CRACK RUNNERS LOST BY ITHACANS

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 26.—The Cornell cross-country team left for Princeton last night leaving behind two of the best men on the team.

Captain Leonard, who last year was kept out of the race on the last day with a sprained ankle, went to the infirmary with appendicitis, and Jones, another crack runner, has sprained his ankle. Only eight men will be entered in the meet by the Ithacans.

The team, however, is one of the best balanced Cornell has yet developed, and is expected to win handsily. Col. True and Seelye are individual honors; Stead is a find, and the others are members of last year's strong freshman team.

MICHIGAN WILL BOOK MORE EASTERN GAMES

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 26.—Negotiations for a game to be played with Pennsylvania in the football season of 1908, have been opened by Director Baird.

The Michigan manager will not only try to schedule the contest, but will endeavor to induce the Quakers to play on Ferry Field next year.

Any one of the Eastern eleven may be the other opponent from beyond the Alleghenies. Dartmouth, the conqueror of Harvard, applied last spring for a try at the Wolverine's side, and was refused only because there was no room on the schedule. Annapolis asked for a game, and Michigan had to answer negatively.

Carlisle, which has been working wonders East and West this fall, is in line for consideration.

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 26.—The trial of George A. Pettibone, charged with complicity in the assassination of former Governor Stevenson, was called by Judge Fremont Wood, of the district court, yesterday morning, but was continued until tomorrow.

ALL IN READINESS FOR MILITARY GAME

Army Looks Better, But Sailors Are Hopeful.

What promises to be one of the greatest football battles between military elevens of late years, will take place Thanksgiving Day at National Park, when the All-Army eleven meets the All-Navy team.

Thursday morning practically the whole Navy Yard and all the forts along the Potomac will be headed for National Park.

There is no use in mincing matters, the All-Navy is in fear of the outcome of the scrap, but the sailors will enter the fight in tip-top shape, for the most part, ready to do the best that is in them, and this means a lot.

A defeat Thursday is apt to work havoc with the Navy's chances of having an All-Navy team next year, so there is a double incentive for the sailors to win.

The sale of tickets to the men attached to the military posts for the big game Thanksgiving Day took place yesterday, and for over two hours there was a steady stream of soldiers at one of the forts for the precious cardboard marked "Reserved."

In years previous the military game was well attended, but this season the demand was so great that there has been a sale of seats on almost every warship in the Washington Navy Yard. From the present outlook 8,000 people, the full capacity of the grounds, will attend the game.

BERTOGLIO WORKING WITH T. WILLIAMS

Gino Bertoglio, the Italian wrestler, who is to meet Joe Turner, of Washington, in a finish match at the National Guard Gymnasium next Monday night, worked out with Tom Williams, the deaf and dumb wrestler, yesterday, and after it was over the Italian's stock had risen. Williams has wrestled Turner and has also seen him perform many times. After his lively contention with the former yesterday, he declared Bertoglio was much stronger in the body and in the legs than Turner, and should have little trouble throwing the elusive Joseph. On the other hand, Bertoglio said he found Williams much more capable than he had been led to believe, and that if the mute had a good, scientific working partner to teach him the knack of carrying through holds, Williams would develop into a very classy grappler.

Turner is training at the National Guard Gymnasium, getting plenty of work in teaching the militia amateurs the principles of the game, and taking on any of the local lights who need experience and are willing to stand roughing to get it.

EASTERN FOOTBALL EMBLEMS AWARDED

Fourteen Players Granted Right to Wear School Letter.

Fourteen Eastern High School football players will have the right to wear the school letter for their work on the gridiron this season as soon as the formal award is made.

At a recent meeting of the athletic advisers of the school the list of players eligible to wear the letter was passed upon and was announced this morning by Mr. Wallace, chairman of the committee. They were Murray, Stewart, Giffen, Leland, Whitney, Fitzhugh, McGee, Martin, W. C. Horner, McCoy, Clark, Tizarre, Brown, N. S. Horner.

Of these, the first ten, will wear the emblem for the first time as a result of their work this season. This fact promises well for the team next year, as these ten men are in the third year now and will be able to play next year if they return to school. Most of the men who starred this year are among those who will be on hand next season. McGee, the fast little quarterback, can be counted on, and Martin and Stewart are two more promising men who will be in the game again if they carry out their present intention. Clark, Tizarre, Brown, and N. S. Horner are the only men who are lost, and while all these made a good record, there is plenty of good material to take their place.

The exercises will be held on the presentation of the letters will not be held until next week on account of some difficulty in having the "E's" made. A captain will not be chosen until next January, after the end of the first half year, in order to avoid the possibility of electing a man who may not be eligible on account of scholarship.

THIRD GAME FRIDAY OF INTER-CITY SERIES

The Corcoran Cadets are practicing nightly in preparation for the inter-city game with Central Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening in this city. The Corcorans have met the Baltimore team twice and split even. The two are evenly matched and a good game is expected. Captain Edwards is confident that his squad will make a good showing and the strength of the Baltimore team was shown in its game against the York Y. M. C. A. last Saturday night.

This evening a dance will be given at the Knights of Pythias Hall for the benefit of the Corcoran Quint.

MORAN FIGHTS SHY OF MEETING CHAMP

SAN FRANCISCO, No. 26.—Moran may not take on Abe Attell in January, as was generally expected. The Englishman's managers have advised him to pick up a little easy money before going after such a tough proposition as the featherweight champion. This may be good business, but it is not in such a match is liable to fall off after several months' wait, especially if Moran goes East and permits some of the second-rate fighters to stick the line with him. Then, new developments may be looked for immediately after the Thomas-Ketchell fight, as there are quite a number of good men in the welterweight and middleweight class just at present.

CORNELL KNOWS ALL COACHES CAN TEACH

Ithacans Well Instructed and in Good Condition.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 26.—With a magnificent display of speed and power that has not been equaled on Percy Field this year, the Cornell varsity brought its training for the Pennsylvania game to a climax last night by overwhelming the strongest scrub team in the history of the university.

After twenty-five minutes of playing the varsity ran to the clubhouse with four touchdowns to their credit.

Raymond Starbuck, fullback of the 1899 and 1900 teams; Harry Purcell and Fennell were on the side lines. The coaches are unanimous in declaring that the team now knows all they can teach, and that if this team is beaten by the Quakers, Cornell will have no excuses.

Every regular was in the game this afternoon. Their physical condition is splendid. After two sets of backs had run through signals and Walder's long punts had been caught by Watson and Vastorian for some time, the teams lined up. Gardner discarded all forward pass plays and on-side kicks, and used only straight football. This is taken to indicate that the coaches have decided to make the Quakers' long preparation for the forward pass wasted effort. The team will have light practice today, and leave for Philadelphia tonight.
